Art Unit: 1651

The amendment filed 7/13/04 is acknowledged. Claims 1-3 are being considered on the merits.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 are/remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Webster et al. (U.S. Patent 6,316,476) or Chen et al. (WO 99/12543) for the reasons as stated in the last Office action and the further reasons below.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive.

Applicant argues that two press releases demonstrate the patentability of the instant invention. However, the claimed “new use” in the press releases is directed to specific diseases, while the instant claims are directed to the use of a class of old compounds for the unspecified treatment of a variety of diseases without an indication of dosage or specific treatment protocol for each of the various diseases comprised by the undefined cluster of conditions and symptoms designated as a “CNS disorder”. The Central Nervous System includes the brain, the cranial nerves, and the spinal cord. Obviously, this is a very complex structure. Thus, CNS disorders are of enormous diversity and include, for example, Alzheimer’s Disease, Attention deficit Disorder, Dementia, Multiple Chemical Sensitivity, Multiple Sclerosis, Parkinson’s Disease, Seizures, Strokes, and Sudden Infant Death Syndrome. This cannot be equated with the touted new uses now patented. In any event, Applicant’s citation of previously granted patents is not persuasive regarding the prosecution of the present application, since each patent application is prosecuted on its own merits and what was done in a previous case does not constitute imprimatur for the prosecution of further cases.

Applicant’s bald argument that the patient populations of the instant application is much different from the patient population used by the prior art has not been substantiated with appropriate evidence. It is well settled that arguments by counsel do not constitute evidence. It is noted that no patients are identified in the instant application and that the only test performed is an in vitro assay wherein thiolutin dioxide and neurolysin are reacted.

Regarding thiolutin dioxide, applicants acknowledge in the as filed specification that at least the Chen reference discloses the compound of claim 3. See, e.g., specification, page 2, paragraph 3 and Chen et al., page 9 et seq.

Therefore the rejection is deemed proper and it is adhered to.

No claim is allowed.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
